Administration . . .

BELOVED BY ALL HIS STUDENTS IS MR. I. S. INGRAM, PRESIDENT OF WEST GEORGIA COLLEGE. THROUGH HIS UNTIRING EFFORTS HE HAS MADE WEST GEORGIA A TRULY OUTSTANDING JUNIOR COLLEGE. THE WELFARE OF THE SCHOOL IS CLOSE TO HIS HEART AND ITS PROGRESS IS A PERSONAL MATTER TO HIM. COURTEOUS AND KIND, HONEST AND SINCERE, HE MIGHT VERY APTLY BE CALLED AN ABLE LEADER OF THE NEW SOUTH.

W. FRED GUNN, M.S.
Dean of Administration

The able leadership of Mr. W. Fred Gunn, Dean of Administration, has helped make West Georgia College an outstanding school. Always eager and willing to serve, Dean Gunn has won the respect and admiration of students and colleagues alike. Students find him interested and anxious to help in any club or activity program they wish to discuss. He is indeed a veritable bulwark of strength on which the school may rely.

Dr. D. F. Folger, Dean of Instruction, has done much to raise the standards of a school which has seen a phenomenal growth within the past few years. He has discharged with real interest and understanding the numerous responsibilities of his position. Taking a personal interest in all the students, Dr. Folger strives to see that they get the most that can be gotten while in school.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE

The Vocational Education for National Defense program at West Georgia College is doing a vital job for the war effort. All the property and equipment owned by the former N. Y. A. project has been leased from the government, and the Georgia State Department of Education is now providing funds through their V. E. N. D. program for operating the war production training program here.

For its contribution to war effort, the college program is now producing bomb boxes. College students are allowed to register for part time work in the shops. In addition to this, the project is equipped with a Wood Shop, Aircraft Sheet Metal Shop, Machine Shop, Electric Welding Shop, Power Sewing Shop, and a general sheet metal shop.

Such a program as this offers vast possibilities for the post-war world. A vocational trade school on a college level with college standards can be established, thus giving adequate and thorough training to instructors and supervisory workers for industry. Plans for such a program are now being considered by the Georgia Board of Regents.

W. Parker Bedingfield is supervisor of war production training with John W. Fountain as War Production Engineer; Mrs. S. P. Craven, Bookkeeper, J. B. Stallings, Wood Shop Instructor; James W. McNeely, Machine Shop Instructor; and James M. King and Thomas L. Boyd, Welding Instructors.

Even though the Fall Quarter began with few sophomores, there is no evidence that the beginning was bad, because the few sophomores seem to have had things pretty well in hand—well, as much as possible anyway. In a time of crisis such as the one we are passing through, the student has a big job to do. He must prepare himself for this critical period and for the post-war world to follow.

As a tired child lays away his toys at the end of a day—toys which have served well but are still unforgotten—we shall soon lay away many happy memories of our two years at West Georgia. Gee! But these have been short, and it seems incredible that many of us will soon be stationed at points all over the globe.

Many of those whose pictures you see here will be serving on foreign fronts, sacrificing much of their comfort and possibly even their lives for those freedoms which we believe to be God-granted and which men must preserve.

These will be brave persons who love their country and fellow men; they are the ones to whom we shall owe our sincerest gratitude, but there will still be many others, just as brave, who will carry on here at home in the various essential jobs for which they are fitted, helping to build morale to back up the boys over there. God give them strength to exert themselves for the best.

There are those who will carry on in their respective fields of education here and in higher institutions of learning. These deserve the utmost respect and every consideration from the rest of us, because they will be the truest foundation for the world we must have in that great tomorrow when the world is free of tyrants who try to dominate all races and bring them to slavery. We must never let such tyrants rule again, and our people who have the opportunity of training in schools to prepare themselves to meet the greater domestic and international problems are working toward this necessary objectives.

FRESHMEN

CHARLES HENDERSON, President; ELLEN MOR-
GAN, Secretary-Treasurer.

On September 21st many new faces began to appear on the campus . . . Some of these had that intellectual look which invariably comes with graduating from high school . . . Some appeared lost in their new surroundings—shy, timid, puzzled. A few with an unquenchable thirst for knowledge were eager to begin classes . . . The Freshmen Class had arrived.

The boys were outnumbered two to one—but not one complaint was heard from them.

The first few weeks were tough ones for these new arrivals. The Freshmen—the chlorophyll of the campus—were taught what college life is . . . the hard way. They had to enter buildings and climb stairs backwards, bow down to the Sophs and shine shoes for them, and learn the Freshmen Creed. Then to top all of that came the Rat Parade. "Debs" and "playboys" donned their good looking clothes—all of them at once—and paraded to town where they entertained the Sophs with songs, dances, speeches, races and everything else imaginable.

It is a far cry from those timid, green boys and girls who entered West Georgia last year to the confident, intelligent, progressive young men and women who now have behind them a year of outstanding work and progress.

The future of the Freshmen looks bright . . . With all the brains and talent possessed by this group, how could they be anything but successful!

THIRD YEAR

The third year students have really accomplished things this year "in a big way." Learning to be teachers has proved to be a great experience and fun for all of us. Of course we have had our ups and downs, but now we feel that we are ready to take our places among the already long lists of school teachers.

At the beginning of each quarter we set up purposes, not only as teachers in training, but also as professional assistants. And we feel that to a great extent these purposes have been accomplished, or at least a good beginning made.

Among these things we have worked with are:

- painting, washing windows, playground equipment, and general beautification of school buildings and grounds;
- planning for and assisting in carnivals, festivals, and community fairs;
- attending community meetings, helping with recreation, and writing community histories;
- home nursing classes, health promotion in schools, making health posters, and assisting in health clinics;
- making charts, maps, photographs, writing news article and radio skits, and doing dramatizations to tell the story of community education;
- attending seminar, where we discussed real problems we face as teachers;
- making trips to other schools and state departments of health and education;
- "occasionally" we did do a "little" reading in addition to practice teaching, nature study, music, art, and interne teaching.

As we look back at these things typical of our year, we find many wonderful memories attached to them. So as we give up the third year room to the next third year students, we wish them a year equally successful.

The CHIEFTAIN staff has enjoyed collecting and organizing this material, which you have been so kind in helping to gather. We present this volume of the CHIEFTAIN with some pride because we believe it typifies the life and enthusiasm that have permeated the campus during the 1943-44 school year. It has been our desire to picture life on the campus from all angles. We hope that this book will aid you in remembering many happy events.

CITIZENSHIP COMMITTEE

The Citizenship Committee, composed of thirteen interested and eager students elected by ballot from each advisory group, is working to establish confidence in democratic procedures and to develop and profit by cooperative thinking. The main purpose of the committee is to study ways of improving the campus and to bring specific proposals before the faculty and student body for consideration and action.

The Communications Center is a valuable asset to the life of the college students at West Georgia College. Those having a desire to try their skill at such activities as drawing, painting, lettering, photography, mimeographing, and even recording their voices, feel free to come here at any time. The Center is a wonderful spot for personal expression and developing natural talent and one liked by all the students. Clay modeling and wood shop are carried on in connection with the Center.

Alpha Psi, composed of home economics students, developed as its theme this year "Living for Victory." Highlights of the year were: the initiation of new members at a candlelight ceremony; the sponsoring of a Christmas tree for a group of underprivileged children; the annual May Day festival and a Spring Dance.

The organization is affiliated with the State and National Home Economics Club.

MEN'S ATHLETICS

BASKETBALL

Left to right standing: Moon, Shankle, Malone, Cadenhead, Rowe; kneeling: Barton, Acree, Gallman, Cohran, Nix.

In spite of the fact that war conditions made transportation for athletic contests out of the question, a full intramural program was planned and carried out for the enjoyment and benefit of all. Among the sports indulged in were basketball, softball, tennis, volleyball, soccer. Calisthenics were part of the program, and an obstacle course was used. From among competing teams varsities were chosen in basketball and volleyball.

During the season the basketball team played the following teams in the college gymnasium:

February 18—West Georgia College	46	Bowdon High School	11
February 26—West Georgia College	17	Carrollton Athletic Council	38
March 7—West Georgia College	22	Carrollton Redskins	32
March 8—West Georgia College	33	Carrollton High School	19

Basketball, Varsity: Marvin Acree, Troy Barton, Winford Cohran, Archie Gallman, Harry Nix; second team: Paul Cadenhead, Louie Malone, Carl Moon, Perry Rowe, J. D. Shankle.

Volleyball, Varsity: Marvin Acree, Troy Barton, Paul Cadenhead, Louie Malone, Harry Nix, Perry Rowe, J. D. Shankle, Frank Thomasson.

FEATURING

Each year the coming of Spring is celebrated on the campus by the May Day Festival. The queen, chosen by popular vote reigns over the day. The crowning of of the queen by the President climaxes the procession of the queen, her attendants, and her court, who wear beautiful pastel dresses. Following the crowning the celebration is taken over by the girls' physical education classes, who, dressed in native costumes, dance folk dances of many different countries.

In 1964:

- As you turn the pages of this proud CHIEFTAIN of 1944 . . .
- As you live again in fond memory the scenes so graphically pictured herein . . .
- As you ponder over names and faces of classmates and faculty . . .
- As you wonder where a certain friend is today, or, are reminded by a photograph that you knew a certain brilliantly successful man or woman as a classmate . . .
- As you reflect upon final examination worries, now engulfed by time; or, the activities of campus and dormitory, enriched by the intervening years, come to mind . . .
- As in 1964 and years to come you relive the happy hours of 1944 . . .

. . . May some of the hours spent with a friend or classmate at our theatres be among your happiest retrospections!

NOW:

- To the staff: We offer hearty congratulations for a splendid record of class and college activities and achievements in this noble CHIEFTAIN!
- To the members of the Sophomore Class who may leave Carrollton: We extend our heartfelt wishes for success and happiness in your chosen fields, and the hope that our paths may cross again!
- To those members who remain in our beautiful county, students and faculty: We say that it is nice to know you so well, and may our present congenial relations continue as time marches on!
